PILOT C. C. AUSTIN OF GRIFFITH, IND. SAVES LIFE BY SKILLFUL MANEUVERING

ABOUT THIS — AND — ABOUT THAT

By OLIVER GEDEIST

KEEPS GOING.—What is it that makes a happy sound for its owner? Answer: The tongue of Florida's tempestuous Senator Pepper.

WITHERED FLOWERS.—In Coronet magazine the other day I saw a picture—a realistic picture. It was of flowers that had been lovely. And an old woman who had once been lovely. It's a strange thing that in our "Christian civilization" lovely women should be permitted to wither in body and soul selling flowers that quickly wither and for a mere pittance—and drag bedraggled bodies in bedraggled clothes through a bedraggled existence. We notice it more in a magazine than on a street. What conclusions we have!

WORTH BUYING.—In Tinley Park, June 17, volunteers for Salvation Army tag day will be in a receptive mood. I don't know whether they will have tambourines. I do know they will have love in their hearts for the sorely distressed—where the Army finds its greatest point of effort. I shall buy a tag; if you are contacted I hope you will buy.

A PET PEEVE.—Long trains standing on village or road crossings for long periods of time, obstructing transportation, piling up long strings of vehicles, or forcing long detours. And it's quite unnecessary.

A GOOD TICKET.—An excellent ticket in 1948 would be talkative Mr. Henry Wallace and voluble Senator Pepper. Yes, an excellent ticket. It would give one such an excellent feeling, a joyful feeling, when voting against it.

CHICAGO TRIBUNE.—The Middle West's "greatest" institution is celebrating its 100th anniversary. Every one will feel like congratulating the vigorous hundred-year-old newspaper even if disagreeing with the "greatest" one-sidedness in modern newspaper history. Some of us dislike it, but we MUST read it. And that marks its makers as masters of their trade.

THE LABOR BILL.—No one knows what Mr. Truman will do with the labor bill, although it is likely he will act before this reaches print. Labor fares well under the bill, even if the bill does clip the wings of some high-binder "leaders." Last November the voters of the United States voted for a Republican Congress because it (and the voters included millions of labor union members) was tired of abuses. The same public spirit will refuse to tolerate abuses of labor. Real friends of labor, and particularly real friends of ALL the public, will hope the President signs the measure into law. If he does not, it is likely Congress will override his veto. And this would be right.

LOWER TAXES.—If Mr. Truman vetoes this bill he will do a favor to the United States. Congress can control government spending, if it will. Right now, with the world in turmoil, with perhaps a gigantic, destructive war in the offing, it would be better to force the wild spenders to behave themselves and devote the present tax money to reduction of our huge debt and to building up a military and naval power strong enough instantly to wipe out a whole nation if that should be forced upon us. Tax reduction now is silly.

TOPSY-TURVEY.—Things seem all wrong. But do not be disturbed. The world's always been that way. If you are discouraged, read history. You'll get a pretty good picture of now—and forever more.

Teachers Complete De Paul Course

A group of Frankfort school teachers have completed an extension course at Joliet in night class attendance, it has been announced.

The course was offered by De Paul University and was in progress March to the end of May, offering studies in child psychology and techniques of teaching.

Those completing the course from Frankfort were Mrs. Carrie Johns, teacher in Orlando township district No. 136; Mrs. Hilda Brethorst, New Lenox school district No. 124; Mrs. Charlotte Dougherty, Green Garden district 151; Mrs. Catherine Walker, New Lenox school district 121.

Leonard A. Rought of New Lenox, prominent in church and civic affairs, who died suddenly in his home Wednesday evening, 7:30, June 4, was buried Saturday afternoon in Cedar Park cemetery, 127th and Halsted streets.

Funeral services were conducted by Father Charles Bennis of Joliet, in St. Bartholomew Episcopal church, 67th and Stewart, Chicago, at 2:30 Saturday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Rought were communicants of the Joliet church.

Mr. Rought, who was 60, was elected to the village board of trustees of New Lenox last year following the successful campaign to incorporate the village, and he was reelected at this year's spring election. He was active in church and civic affairs from the time of moving to New Lenox 18 years ago.

He was supervisor in the electrical engineering division of Illinois Steel at East Chicago, Ind., and was a veteran of the Mexican campaign under General Pershing in 1915. Death was from coronary thrombosis. He was born in Chicago.

The family consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Rought and Mrs. Rought's sister, Miss Flora E. Goff, a teacher in Joliet schools, but now on leave of absence while studying for her doctorate degree.

Surviving in addition to Mrs. Rought are three brothers, George Rought of Los Angeles, Calif., William Rought of Whiting, Ind., and Ernest Rought of Chicago; three sisters, Mrs. Ada Brown and Mrs. Emma Holden of Pittsfield, Mass., and Mrs. Alice Warren of Belvidere in Illinois.

Mrs. Rought and Miss Goff will continue in their home in New Lenox.

Helmke-Webb

Miss May Helmke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Helmke of Marley, became the bride of Carl Webb of Chicago at a ceremony in St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church, Mokena, at 4 o'clock last Saturday afternoon, June 8. The pastor, the Rev. William Riemann, performed the ceremony. Attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Helmke.

The bride wore a gown of white frosted organza over blue taffeta. She wore a matching cap and carried a bouquet of white gladioli and white carnations.

Mrs. Helmke wore a gown of pink net over taffeta. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

After the ceremony, a wedding supper was served in the Helmke home for the family. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mann of Kankakee were guests.

The young couple will reside on a farm near Harrisburg, Ill.

Hugh J. Tierney Dies In Mokena Home

Hugh J. Tierney of Mokena died in his home Monday, June 9, and funeral services were held at Edward F. Dames funeral home, Broadway and Oneida streets, Joliet, Wednesday, June 11, at 8:45, then at St. Mary's church in Mokena at 9:30. Interment was in St. Mary's cemetery in Mokena.

Mr. Tierney was a member of the Holy Name society.

Surviving are Mrs. Tierney, two daughters, Mrs. Louis Stanger and Rita Mae Tierney, one son David Tierney, all of Mokena; one brother, David Tierney; three sisters, Mrs. Frank Hartmann, Mrs. Mary Seavers, and Miss Catherine Tierney. Two grandchildren also survive.

NEW LENOX VETS PLAN TO FORM ORGANIZATION

There will be a meeting of veterans June 20 at 8 p. m. at Emiley hall, New Lenox, for the purpose of creating a veterans organization in New Lenox.

All veterans are invited and are asked to bring other veterans of any war to the meeting.

BOUQUET FOR C. LEHMAN FOR WORK AT CEMETERY

Charley Lehmann is to be commended on his fine job of making the lane into Hadley cemetery passable in wet weather, by his fine job of graveling, to say nothing of many hours spent in cleaning up.

A VISITOR

MRS. HELEN C. ELWELL
Incoming President of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts.

BOSTON, MASS., June 2.—Affirming that God rules the affairs of man, the Christian Science board of directors told the annual meeting of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., that neither fear nor animality can give evil power to boast itself over good.

Supporting this challenge, Mrs. Helen Chaffee Elwell, newly elected president of the Mother Church, urged both pulpit and press to unite in a crusade of righteousness. The hour has struck, she indicated, "for the Church to dare to be a David."

To the "harassed employer and the dissatisfied worker" and to nations generally, the directors and the president of the church held out the hope of harmony, not as a miracle, but rather as a simple witnessing to the fact that amity springs naturally from the application of spiritual power.

Nelson-Henke

Miss Shirley Nelson of Tinley Park, formerly of Mokena, became the bride of Arthur Henke, Jr., of Tinley Park at a beautiful wedding ceremony Saturday evening, 7:30, in St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church, Mokena, the Rev. William Riemann, pastor, officiating.

The service was candlelight, with double-ring ceremony, amid decorations of baskets of snowballs and iris and spirea, with palms and ferns, an arch forming the station for the marriage vows.

Participants were Miss Lois Bettenhausen of Tinley and Miss Marilyn Pihl of Orland Park as bridesmaids; Lloyd Bettenhausen as best man, Alvin Bormet and Richard Marti as attendants, Norman Bormet and Russel Andres as ushers, Lucille Marti and Marion Hollstein of Tinley as candlelighters. Ringbearer was Warren Schluter, four-year-old cousin of the groom, who carried a white satin heart-shaped pillow bearing the ring. Flower girl was Ronelle Specht of Blue Island, dressed exactly like the bride with identical veil.

The bride was dressed in white satin damask gown with short train and wore the veil of her sister, Mrs. Milton Bettenhausen, and carried a shower bouquet of lily of the valley with purple iris centering.

The bride's attendants wore pink marquisette floor-length dresses with pink accessories, with, however, the maid of honor substituting white accessories.

Vocal selections were given by Mrs.

Not only improved industrial relations and better government, but also the health of the individual can be attained through spiritual understanding, the Directors contended.

Continuing in this theme, Mrs. Elwell said: "There are those who see little hope for amity among the nations, who even despair of establishing peace, harmony, or even friendliness among the families of the earth. Their world is dark indeed."

Beyond that, there are many persons who despair of coping with the unleashed material forces of an atomic age, she pointed out. "Such thinkers," the speaker added, "need to learn the imminence of heaven, the omnipotence, omniscience and omnipresence of the infinite God, good."

"How shall they hear without a preacher?" the speaker asked. She answered her own question, thus: "The church is that preacher, and to Christian church has come the opportunity, unparalleled in Christian history, so to present the true concept of God in his relationship to man and the universe, that men will turn naturally to the teachings of Christ."

The directors' and the Mother Church president's remarks highlighted one of the largest annual meetings in years, with members of the Church in session from various parts of the world, from California, England, Europe, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa came reports of a growing resurgence in religious activities.

Mrs. Elwell became a member of the Mother Church in 1913, receiving class instruction in the same year. She has had membership in several branch churches as her travels permitted. Upon residing in Boston, she entered the public practice of Christian Science in 1923. She was for five years assistant superintendent of the Mother Church Sunday School, and four years a member of the Christian Science Bible lesson committee. Mrs. Elwell has just completed a term of three years' service as second reader in the Mother Church.

Garden Club Show Set in New Lenox

Entry sheets for New Lenox Garden club show have been issued, it was announced this week by Mrs. Louise Rowe of the club.

The show is scheduled for Thursday, June 19, in the New Lenox grade school auditorium, with 19 different classifications.

In addition to the exhibitions, a pet show has been announced for children between 3 and 4 o'clock in the afternoon of the day of the show. It was also announced that pets must be controlled, dogs to be tied and all other pets to be in boxes, crates, or cages.

Exhibiting privilege is extended to the public, and is not confined to Garden club membership.

Brotherhood To Manhattan

Mokena's St. John's Brotherhood members were guests Tuesday night of the men of the Evangelical and Reformed church in Manhattan.

Margaret Klepper of Tinley accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Alfreda Kropp of Mokena.

A premarital dinner was given for immediate families in the home of Mrs. Bettenhausen, as a tie-in for the bride, for the Bettenhausens' fifth wedding anniversary, and for the groom's birthday. Thirty-five guests attended.

Saenger hall was the scene of a reception following the ceremony, with 500 guests participating.

Mr. and Mrs. Henke will live on a farm near Tinley Park.

MOKENA GRADUATES TOLD NO 'LUCK'; ONLY HARD WORK BRINGS SUCCESS

(By DONALD HELENHOUSE)

Graduates of Mokena grade school under Principal Mrs. Albert Cappel heard some straight-thinking statements concerning their future at the graduation exercises Wednesday evening, June 4, in the school gymnasium.

The speaker was the Rev. Herbert Rasey, pastor of First Methodist church in Lockport, who built his address on five things inseparable from the students' lives: Patience, work, imagination, friendliness, faith. Working through the significances of these five things, he took the graduates into a looking-glass presentation of the future, wherein they found that by understanding these significances and following the proper interpretation, they can achieve the respect of neighbors by attaining a standard of responsible achievement in relation to other peoples and ideals.

Concluding his talk, Mr. Rasey left these thoughts with his young audience: sow a thought and reap a deed, sow a deed and reap a habit, sow a habit and reap a character, sow a character and reap a destiny. "There is no such thing as luck," he told the graduates, adding "success is the result of years of hard work."

The procession of graduates opened the evening's ceremony, boys and girls entering through separate doors and proceeding to the platform with Mrs. Vivian Stoner, piano accompanist. Following invocation by the Rev. William Riemann seventh and eighth graders sang two songs.

Diplomas were given to graduates following presentation of the class to Lawrence Kohl, clerk of school district board of directors.

Graduates receiving diplomas were Harold Ambuehl, Betty Beagley, Joseph Carter, Joyce Cummins, Bruce Gaddis, John Hall, David Kropp, Mildred Zirk, Marcia Larson, Daniel Marvin, Martin Medema, James Needham, Steward Shoop, Earle Stellwagon, Marianne Whitlark.

Miss Joanne Marti Sets School Record

Miss Joanne Martie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Martie of Mokena, is continuing in Joliet high school the record she established in Mokena for studious effort and high scholastic achievement, according to information made available at graduation exercises in Joliet.

Miss Martie has just finished her sophomore year in high school with the highest rating in all the school—a nice 98.25, it was stated by school authorities.

While records have not been officially stated, it was said, Miss Martie's record in her sophomore year was stated as probably one of the highest, if not the highest, in the history of Joliet high.

Miss Martie won recognition in all branches, in addition to studies, these including friendliness, sportsmanship, and character—these, it was said, including other attributes which explain her high scholastic marks.

Mokena Area Masons Hold A Get-Together

Members of the Masonic fraternity residing in and near Mokena gathered at Hatch hall Friday evening, June 6, for an evening of entertainment and a get-together party, with a large number of Masons and their families attending.

Members of the fraternity were requested to stand and were introduced by Whitney Carter, each giving his lodge name, number, and location; the ladies and members of the Eastern Star doing likewise.

Past Master William Cochrane of Composite Lodge 879 of Chicago, who is also past deputy grand master and grand lecturer, introduced Mrs. Andrew Buschel Sr., past worthy matron of Englewood chapter Order Eastern Star. A moment of silence was requested in memory of deceased members of the fraternity, Ona E. McGovern, Emil Borges, and Robert Bechtstein, all of Mokena.

Selections on an accordion for those wishing to dance were provided by a young lady from Joliet, while H. I. Clark entertained with impersonations and Mrs. Clark gave a recitation.

Luncheon was served in the help-yourself style, and a vote of thanks was given to Mrs. John Balaz, Mrs. George Kreml, Mrs. Glenn Peterson, Mrs. Harry Lozow, and Mrs. John Seath as well as Mr. Balaz and Mr. Kreml and others assisting.

Another get-together of the fraternity will be given at a later date, it was stated.

Transfers Cemetery Title After 100 Years

A Homer township cemetery was disposed of this week to the recently formed Barnett Cemetery association of Homer township. It was announced by Will county board of supervisors.

Transfer probably would have been made earlier, but the supervisors did not know that the county had owned the cemetery for about 100 years. In 1847 the property was deeded to the board of supervisors and its successors, for use only as a burying ground.

Action of the board followed a request by James D. Frazer, Homer supervisor and president of the cemetery association.

New Lenox Tavern Looted Saturday

Liquor valued at approximately $2,000 was stolen from a New Lenox tavern early last Saturday morning along with an estimated $75, according to reports to Will county sheriff's office.

Sheriff's Deputies Roy Doerffler and Charles Cracraft made an investigation, and found that entry was made by breaking a window on the south side of the building. The padlock on the storage room was broken, it was reported.

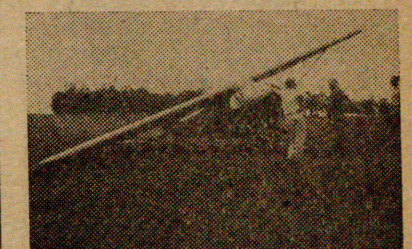

Discovery of the looting was by the porter. Upon arriving for work he found the front door ajar and notified the owner of the tavern—the Three Deuces—who lives in Joliet.

ST. JOHN'S PASTOR AT DAVIS

The Rev. and Mrs. William Riemann left Wednesday morning for Davis to participate in the 100th anniversary of St. Paul's church in Davis. Mr. Riemann preached the anniversary service.

Skilled manipulation of an airplane with its motor dead undoubtedly saved the life of C. C. Austin of 130 Ernest avenue, Griffith, Ind., when he made a forced landing on the farm of L. G. Bruder, about a mile west of Mokena, last Friday at 12 o'clock.

Mr. Austin told reporters that the Semmler Papers that he was flying at an altitude of 600 feet when motor trouble developed, and while he was seeking a level and landable place for his unwelcome but necessary descent.

Forced Landing near Mokena

the motor went dead. Thereafter his problem was not where to land, but how to land with the least damage to his person and plane.

Adding to difficulties of a landing, forced or natural, was the softness of the ground and the rolling nature of the landscape. The rolling nature of the ground brought about instability of wind, and although he had maneuvered the nose of the plane into the wind for grounding, as the plane neared the earth the wind changed.

As a result of the wind change, control was lost as the plane neared the ground, with a wrecked propeller as the most expensive phase of the forced landing.

Two wing tips were damaged, rakes were damaged, and because of the soft ground and inability to make a take-off even if engine check-up had been possible, Chicago-Hammond airport, owner of the plane, sent out a trailer with mechanics, who dismantled the ship and took it back to Hammond the same afternoon.

Pilot Austin is a former army air force man and is attached to the Chicago-Hammond airport, while qualifying for his commercial license. An airport official, R. R. Ford, told The Semmler Papers that the total damage to the plane probably would not exceed $300, and credited the pilot with skillful handling of the plane in saving his own life.

The plane was a Piper Cub and was on the way from Hammond to Lansing, Ill., when it was forced down.

Airport explanation of the motor trouble indicated that examination revealed no defects, and the only cause that could be attributed was a frozen carburetor, which, it was said, could easily occur under the climatic conditions existing at that time.

The pilot escaped injury, except, of course, a bit of shaking up when the plane hit the ground.

"3 Little Maids" Set for Saturday

"Three Little Maids" is the title of a play to be presented by the Youth Fellowship of St. Peter's Evangelical and Reformed church Saturday evening of this week in Mokena school gymnasium.

The cast is reported as having perfected a high degree of theatrical poise and they expect to offer interesting entertainment to a full house.

Time: 8 o'clock. Date: This Saturday evening, June 14.

Bridal Shower

A bridal shower in honor of Miss Dorothy Jarchow was given Thursday, May 29, in Hatch's hall by Mrs. Ida and Mrs. Anton Benson.

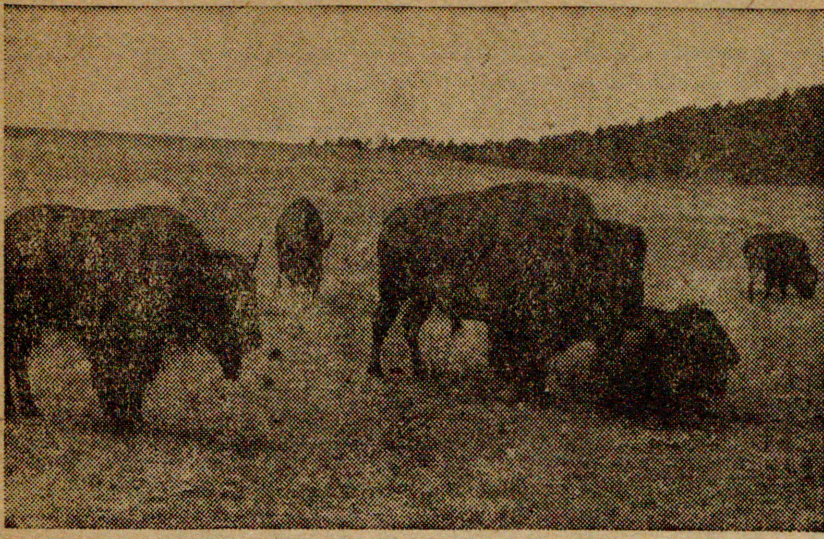

Bunco was played and duplicate prizes were won by Miss Dorothy Jarchow, Mrs. Hugh Tierney, and Mrs. Rose Steinhagen, after which the future bride opened the many gifts she had received.

A delicious luncheon was served, which was enjoyed by all. Miss Dorothy Jarchow of New Lenox will become the bride of Arthur Benson of Mokena June 21 at 7 o'clock at St. Peter's Evangelical church in Frankfort.

Miss Sorenson Given Shower in Chicago

Novel games and a buffet lunch featured a bridal shower for Miss Ethel Sorenson given by Mrs. Edna Sjoestedt at her home in Chicago last Saturday afternoon.

Nine guests from Mokena and Tinley Park were present and Miss Sorenson was the recipient of many gifts. Following the games a buffet luncheon was served from a table decorated with white candles and a cake

MECCA FOR TRAVELERS

Mysteries of Underground World Beckon Adventurous

WNU Features.

Caves have fascinated man from the dawn of antiquity to the present day. Stories of them abound in history, folklore and mythology, yet these mysterious underground worlds still beckon the adventurous and the weird scenes to be discovered there fire imaginations.

Three great cave systems in the United States have been established as national parks—Mammoth cave in Kentucky, Carlsbad caverns in New Mexico and Wind cave in South Dakota. In 1946 these three national parks were visited by more than half a million people.

Mammoth cave has been world famous for more than a century. It is believed to have been discovered in 1799 by a pioneer named Houchin who followed a wounded bear into the cave entrance. A few years later salt petre taken from the cave was used in the manufacture of gunpowder for American troops in the War of 1812, and not long after that the great passageways and domed chambers of Mammoth cave became an international mecca for travelers. There are galleries on five distinct levels in Mammoth cave and during the course of the underground trip, the visitor descends 360 feet to the lowest level where the Echo river winds its tortuous way in eternal darkness. Echo river is probably the most distinctive and interesting feature of the cave and a short trip is made on it in a flat-bottomed boat. Strange eyeless fish live in the river.

There are now more than 150 miles of explored passageways in Mammoth cave and the visitor is offered a choice of several tours which vary in length from 2½ to 7½ hours. On the all-day trip one has lunch at the Snowball Dining Room, 267 feet below the surface. An indication of what one may expect to see is given by the names of some of the formations in the cave: Bottomless Pit, Fat Man's Misery, Ruins of Karnak, Frozen Niagara, Violet City, Jenny Lind's Armchair and Martha Washington's Statue.

Long under private ownership, Mammoth cave became a national park in 1941 largely through the foresight and generosity of the people of the State of Kentucky, who through personal contributions made possible purchase of the cave property and its donation to the federal government.

CARLSBAD CAVERNS was proclaimed a national monument in 1923 and given national park status in 1930. Probably its earliest explorer was Jim White, a cowboy, who entered it in 1901. Seeing a dark, moving column issuing from the top of a mountain, White investigated and found a natural opening in the earth which led him down to the caverns. The dark, smokelike column proved to be alive, a moving stream of bats from down in the darkness of the caves. This spectacular flight of bats, may be seen every afternoon at dusk during the warm months of the year.

The descent into Carlsbad caverns from the natural entrance is an unforgettable experience. From a point well below the surface one may look back through the semi-gloom to see an endless procession of people zig-zagging downward amid huge boulders and grotesque rock formations. The scene reminds one of descriptions from Dante's "Inferno." Elevators are available for those who do not wish to descend or ascend on foot.

Everything in Carlsbad caverns is on a vast scale. The rooms are huge and the stalactites and stalagmites are larger than in any other known cave. Some of the stalagmites have the shape and size of church spires. The dominant colors in Carlsbad are varying shades of tan. The descent from the natural entrance to the 750 foot level is made via the Green Lake Room, the King's Palace, the Queen's Chamber and the Papoose Room. After lunch in the underground cafeteria comes the main event, a tour of the "Big Room." This tremendous chamber is about 4,000 feet long, 500 feet wide and 300 feet from floor to ceiling. In this room many city skyscrapers would seem small. Here one sees the Temple of the Sun and the pagoda-like stalagmite, called "Rock of Ages." The trip takes about seven hours.

WIND CAVE near the Black Hills in South Dakota, a national park since 1903, is much smaller in extent than either Mammoth cave or Carlsbad caverns, but it has unusual formations known as "box work" found in no other caves in the United States. The tour of Wind cave requires from one to two hours and the return to the surface is made by elevator.

An additional interesting feature of Wind Cave National park is a large buffalo herd which may be seen from the park road.

MAMMOTH CAVE, Carlsbad caverns and Wind cave are accessible by paved highways, and all have bus or taxi connections with one or more railroads. There are no overnight facilities at Carlsbad caverns, but there are tourist camps near the park entrance and hotels in Carlsbad, N. M. A free campsite is provided in Wind Cave National park, but the nearest hotels or cabins will be found in Hot Springs, S. D. At Mammoth Cave National park hotels, cottages and park transportation are furnished. Here also National Park service has free campsites and picnic areas.

All three caves are illuminated by modern electric systems; however, in the historic section of Mammoth cave parties still are guided by the traditional lanterns and flickering pine torches. There are no elevators in Mammoth cave and visitors in poor physical condition should not descend to the level of Echo river as the climb to the surface is steep. All trips in the cave are conducted by National Park service guides and rangers.

SCENE FROM 'INFERNO' . . . Like a scene from Dante's "Inferno," giant stalagmites and grotesque rock formations abound in Carlsbad caverns in New Mexico.

Scenic Wonders Lure Many to Arizona

PHOENIX, ARIZ. — A treasure trove of scenic wonders plus a full program of western entertainment await vacationers this summer in this land of striking contrast.

Strongest bid for summer travelers in the state is being made by northern Arizona, which boasts such sights as the famed Grand Canyon, Painted Desert, Petrified Forest, Canyon de Chelly, picturesque Oak Creek Canyon, Meteor

Crater and other natural wonders set aside in national park and national monument areas.

Outstanding among the celebrations scheduled this summer are the Frontier Days celebration and rodeo at Prescott, July 3-6; the all-Indian Pow-Wow at Flagstaff, July 4-6; the Smoki Indian ceremonies at Prescott, August 10, and Hopi snake dances at Indian villages near Winslow, August 15-25.

NATIONAL DEBT MUST BE PAID OFF BY SACRIFICES

Two hundred and sixty billion dollars of national indebtedness! It is a huge sum; so large none of us can realize what it means as a total. Broken up into equal shares for each of the approximately 130 million people of the nation it means $2,000 for each one of us to pay, plus interest. A mortgage of $10,000 on each family of five, parents and children.

For each one of us to pay our share means we must sacrifice something; do without something we do not actually need or can get along without, that we may save that $2,000, or $10,000 for the family.

What is true of each of us as an individual is equally true of the 130 million of us collectively. We, the people of America, owe 260 billion dollars, that we collectively must pay. To pay it we, collectively, must save that amount. To see that we do is the job of our representatives at Washington. It is not their job to see that some do without non-essentials, and some do not. All of us, whether we live in Maine or California, in Washington or Florida, and all the states in between, are expected to do without some of the things we may want, but which we have been able to get along with out in the past, that we may pay that 260 billion dollars of national indebtedness.

GIVE UP SUBSIDIES

Regardless of what our calling may be, it is up to us to do without that something a former profligate congress may have given us, that money may be saved to apply on national debt payments. The corn, wheat or cotton farmer, the cattle and hog grower, the fruit grower, should be willing to forego subsidy payments, that money may be saved. What is true of the farmer is equally true of all others; the manufacturer, the merchant, the worker and professional man, all who have been receiving that extra something from the government, either directly or indirectly.

The government employee, holding a needless job, who does not willingly quit and seek productive employment that will help in paying our government debt, should be arbitrarily retired, and so forced into doing his part.

For many years we have had the seemingly inevitable "pork" appropriation and for the past several years especially congress has been lavish in its spendings for unessential and expensive public projects which we had been able to get along without. Until that government debt is paid, or greatly reduced, the time has come to again get along without such projects. At best, such projects were beneficial only to the people of one state, or one section. They were largely "pork," the purpose of which was to catch votes.

Now is a time for the most stringent economy, for doing only those things that will keep the wheels turning. Those expensive luxuries we were able to get along without in the past, we can, and must, continue to get along without until that debt is paid. Of the total each one of us owes $2,000 and each family of five owes $10,000.

To see that we do these things is the job of our representatives at Washington.

LEAVE NATIVES ALONE

We should hope the 50,000 new wards the government has taken over in the far-flung Pacific islands will not, in time, repeat the statement the native Hawaiians will make to you, should you visit the islands, and which they have made to me. Not one, but many, said: "When, a century ago, the missionaries came they had the Bible, and the Hawaiians had the land. Now the descendants of the missionaries have the land, and the Hawaiians have the Bible." They make that statement with no malice, and no ill will. They are proud of their American citizenship, but they have a longing for the grass skirts of yesterday. In many a home closet such a skirt is hanging. It may be worn indoors but never outside the house. We should let the new wards keep both their grass skirts and their land. Let them continue as the happy, care-free children of nature, with such customs and government as they prefer. The missionaries of today are not zealots, as were those to Hawaii a century ago.

THE American home is a dangerous place. During 1946 there were, throughout the nation, a total of 34,000 fatal home accidents, and we think of home as the one place where we are safe.

BACK in the days of "Sockless" Jerry Simpson and the Populists we were as much afraid of "printing press" money as we now are of the Communists. Today we have "printing press" money, and, although it is not worth much, each of us fights to get our share, or more.

Millions of Chinese are starving, but there is food for the rulers of the quarreling factions. It would be easier to settle their feuds on their empty stomachs.

BASEBALL has known over seventy-five spring starts, but in all that time Dr. Abner Doubleday's discovery has never before known the tangled knot that belongs to the National League race of 1947.

As a starter, the National League still has a 3 to 5 shot trailing the pack by many lengths with corn on the cobb and watermelon just around the corner.

Eight National League managers are reeling around with the look that follows the arrival of a blunt instrument at the base of the brain. They can't find pitchers who can protect a 5-or-6-run lead. They find a flock of normally 300 hitters swinging savagely at a .123 clip, often lucky to get a foul. It is nothing to see pitchers hand out 4 or 5 passes in one inning, forcing over important runs. Star pitchers are far behind the 50-50 mark, struggling desperately to last three innings.

No one seemed to know whether the first-division teams had slipped, or the second-division teams had moved far up. There was no way to tell them apart, except to keep wondering how the tail-end Cardinals stayed where they were, as long as they were allowed to carry bats to the plate.

Anybody's Race Now

We have made a careful check of the long list of games played in recent weeks, and from this roundup, it is impossible to locate a sure first-division team, or to name a team that can't win the pennant by breaking just a trifle better than even.

Of course, this bizarre state of affairs can't last much longer. One or two teams are pretty sure to stumble over the lost element of consistency and move on forward. But no one can tell you who these teams will be.

The once ridiculed Giants suddenly rushed in with the best offense in either league, backed up by greatly improved pitching. Picked by many as repeating tailenders, they have been the best all-around team in baseball through the last few weeks. Mel Ott is due a number of rousing cheers for the late stand his hired men have made against some rasping luck, where the ball they have been playing most of May could easily win the National League flag.

Tigers and Red Sox have made the American League race the more consistent scramble with the Indians crowding in. The Red Sox are far from their stampeding form of last season. The Tigers are now favored as the best team in the circuit—certainly the team backed up with the best pitching, which is a pretty vital matter.

Joe Gordon, as one could figure in advance, has been one of the main factors in Cleveland's challenge—once more the Gordon that ranked high among the best.

It should be Tigers or Red Sox in the American League and you can do your own nominating in the now bewildered rival circuit.

Cards Should Come Back

No one expects the Cardinals to keep fluttering around the cellar and the swamps for any extended length of time. But their earlier crash-up has left the National League race wide open. Any pretty-fair ball club could step out and win this pennant against so much ragged and jittery opposition. No flag winner has much to beat, unless Dyer's young men suddenly throw aside their winding sheets and play the ball they should have played from the opening pitch.

On copy paper, they are still the class of the league in every department of play. But you don't win pennants on copy paper.

This 1947 National League pennant race may not be the fanciest joust on record, but it should make up in the way of action and upsets what it lacks in class and form. Giant power has been a spring surprise. So has improved Giant pitching. Here seems to be a pennant that almost any team can win—any team willing to hustle and work a little.

As the old philosopher, Dizzy Dean, puts it—"There are a lot of good ballplayers around, but no good ball teams."

What looked to be a one-club stampede has now turned into a four-or-five-club scramble—meaning Cubs, Braves, Cardinals, Giants and Dodgers—with such teams as the Phillies, Reds, and Pirates still "dreaming of the hour."

More Than Power

The great majority link Babe Ruth's name with the word "power." They think of a 235-pound giant hammering out more than 700 home runs, with a ball much less lively than the one in use today. Too many forget that the Babe also had an all-around skill, a matter of touch and timing, often approaching the delicate side, that certainly matched his power.

JUDAH'S APPROACHING DOOM

LESSON TEXT—Jeremiah 36:2, 3, 23-31; II Kings 24:1-4.

MEMORY SELECTION—The fear of the Lord prolongeth days; but the years of the wicked shall be shortened.—Proverbs 10:27.

The decline of a nation from strength and glory to weakness and shame is always a sad thing to contemplate. Still worse is the evident cause of such decay in the sinfulness of the people and their stubborn rejection of God's mercy and grace.

The religious reforms in Judah under Josiah were only temporary in their effect on the people; partly because of their own insincerity, and partly because Josiah was soon killed in battle. Yet God did not leave his wandering people without good counsel, for it was in those days that the great prophet Jeremiah ministered. He had been the helper of Josiah in his good purposes; now he continued to plead with Judah to submit themselves to God and to his will.

His efforts proved to be fruitless as far as Judah was concerned, for we see that

I. Judah Would Not Respond to God's Mercy (Jer. 36:2, 3).

God commanded his prophet to write down his words in order that the people might not only know the inevitable impending judgment, but especially be reminded of God's desire that they should turn from their evil ways and be forgiven.

One would have thought that they would have responded to such mercy with an immediate and grateful return to the Lord, but they did not.

Jeremiah, a unique man of great ability, was so tenderhearted that he has often been called the weeping prophet. Do not infer that he was a weak, emotional character, for he was strong in the Lord, and courageous in the face of rejection and persecution. He urged upon Judah the necessity of submitting to Babylon, to whom God had given power, and above all to the Lord, for a spiritual cleansing and revival.

Our second section brings before us the further sin of King Jehoiakim, who led his nation on to destruction. We see that

II. Judah Would Not Receive God's Word (Jer. 36:23-31).

At God's command Jeremiah and his scribe Baruch had prepared the scroll with God's Word upon it. One of the nation's leaders was moved by it, and through his urging, the scroll was brought to the attention of the king.

Jehoiakim, sitting before the fire, heard only part of it, and then in defiance of God he took a penknife and cut it up and burned it.

One cannot help but think of those in our day who call themselves modern thinkers, or liberals, who have also used their penknives on God's Word. They cut out of the Bible everything they do not like, and offer the hungry people the stone of their own philosophies in place of the Bread of life. Think what their judgment will be!

God's Word is not so easily gotten out of the way! The prophet was commanded to rewrite the scroll, and in it to declare the awful judgment of God upon the one who mutilated his Word.

To try to destroy God's truth by fire and violence is as fruitless as to try to tear the stars from the heavens or to keep the sun from shining. The wicked leaders of a great nation have tried that once more in recent years, and they now lie dead for their sins, with the nation a subject people, broken and all but destroyed.

One wonders why those who profess to serve the Lord will engage in such activity, even as one wonders at Judah, a favored people of God, refusing to receive his Word.

God is not willing to give up, and now tries chastisement. But we see that

III. Judah Would Not Recognize God's Providences (II Kings 24:1-4).

Jehoiakim had become the vassal of Babylon, but after three years he decided to try to throw off the yoke of his oppressor, Nebuchadnezzar. He was not able at the time to deal with the situation, and so he incited marauding bands from various other nations to harass Judah.

We see, however, that this came about at the commandment of God (vv. 2, 3). Evidently he was now using the distressing experiences of life to turn Judah back to him; but once again it proved to be in vain.

God does deal with men through what we call his providences, and these may include not only his mercies, but his chastisement. Trouble and sorrow may be God's means of leading us to the place of repentance and blessing.

What folly it is to disregard the hand of God in our daily lives, or to become embittered at the circumstances which are intended to bring us to God's place of blessing. Happy is the man or woman who, being reproved in this way, profits by the Lord's admonition (Heb. 12:11).

Supper was served at 6:30 o'clock at picnic tables on the lawn to all members and their families.

Termining the clothing drive conducted last February by the New Lenox PTA to help the impoverished civilian population in Bremen, Germany, a "splendid welfare action", Dr. Ernest A. Plotow, former superintendent of the New Lenox school, who is now in Germany, recently wrote a thankful letter to Mrs. Robert Gillette, president of the New Lenox PTA last year. Dr. Plotow, who resigned his duties in New Lenox last spring, is now serving as chief of education and religious affairs for the Bremen area in Germany. For three years prior to his acceptance of the job with the civil affairs department, he had been superintendent of New Lenox schools.

EXPRESSES GRATITUDE

"It is a great pleasure for me to thank you for the splendid welfare action of the PTA and the school children of New Lenox. Dr. Plotow wrote, 'The parcels arrived in good shape and are in the process of being distributed. The Bremen school administration has established a welfare agency and all the clothing and food are being distributed through the teachers. A good job is being done for the teachers know who is in need of clothing'."

FRANKFORT

By Mrs. Frank J. Kohlhausen

Guests in the Wilburn Patterson home last week were Mrs. Robert P. Lamor, sister of Mrs. Patterson, and Mr. Lamor of Columbia, Tenn. Mrs. Mack Duncan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patterson, and Mr. Duncan of San Francisco, Cal., and Mrs. George Hudson and children of Chicago.

The Lions club will hold its regular monthly meeting Tuesday night at the village hall. The ladies who will serve the supper are chairman, Edith Heuser, co-workers Alvina Lühring, Lydia Hollstein, Jennie Pfaff, Nellie Mark, and L. Martin.

A group of the younger set attended the J. T. H. S. alumni dance at Joliet Saturday evening. Those who attended were Messers and Mesdames Burton Breidert, Stanley Johnson, Leroy Mager, Orville Schroeder and Dr. Claud Otto.

The Amite Sewing club met at the home of Mary Pfaff Wednesday evening.

The school district 152 of Green Garden finished their school activities, with a picnic which was held at the Green Garden hall Sunday afternoon. Games of all kinds were played and food was plentiful. The P. T. A. elected its officers for the ensuing year, resulting as follows: President, Mrs. John Loucks, vice-president, Mrs. Wright Wood, Secretary, Mrs. Henry Smet, treasurer, Mrs. William Rahm.

Children's day will be observed at St. Peter's Evangelical and Reformed church next Sunday morning.

The Children's day program at the Methodist church was well attended Sunday morning. The next event to be remembered will be the Sunday school picnic, which will be held at Geutjers' Grove June 22 immediately after Sunday school. All members of the congregation are invited. Mrs. Harry Tewes attended a miscellaneous shower at the home of her niece, Mrs. Leonard Graham, in Joliet, Sunday afternoon, honoring Miss Eunice Offner, a sister of Mrs. Graham, who will become the bride of Norman Goodwin June 15. The marriage will take place at the Richard Street Methodist church, Joliet.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Vollrath, grandpa Hanson, Mr. and Mrs. Lambert Vollrath, and Betty, and Fred MaLe of Joliet were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Stauffenberg at Manteno Sunday evening.

Mrs. Blanche Mitchell and sister Estelle Popolorum are spending several weeks at Pennellwood, Berrian Springs, Mich.

Miss Charlene Folkers entertained at dinner last Saturday. Guests included a group of her J. T. H. S. classmates.

Mr. and Mrs. William Holmes and daughter, Mrs. Carl Gable of Plainfield, were visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Eisenbrand and Miss Emma Breidert last week Thursday.

Mrs. Lizzie Klose and the Misses Margaret Sangmeister and Lauretta Moss, called on the F. J. Kohlhausen one day last week.

Mrs. George Sangmeister was host at a dinner Monday noon, when she entertained for Judy Marie Weichselberger's first stepping-out. Guests were the Fred Weichselberger family and Mr. George Sangmeister and George Jr.

Visitors in the F. J. Kohlhausen home Sunday evening were Mr. and Mrs. John Funk of Tinley Park, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kolstedt and Mr. Conrad and Miss Emma Wilson.

The Art Bauch family went to see the cavalcade of amusements at Joliet Sunday afternoon.

Sunday morning, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Weichselberger was christened at St. Peter's church by the Rev. Erich Bizer. The sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. George Sangmeister. After the ceremony a 1 o'clock dinner was served at the village hall, honoring the little Miss Judy Marie. Guests who attended were Rev. and Mrs. Bizer, the Walton Larsons, George Sangmeister Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Ed Vollette, Mrs. Charles Fleck, and Mrs. George Bussey. Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Gust Schranz and Joseph, Mrs. Anna Weichselberger, son Rudy and daughter Ann, Mr. and Mrs. Hitchcock, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Franey, Mr. and Mrs. Hy Stanke, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fleck of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Johnson and family of Joliet. The table decorations were carried out in pink and white and a beautiful bouquet of flowers, given by Mrs. Sangmeister, centered the table. The afternoon was spent socially. Bunco was played by the younger set and prizes awarded Freddy and Carol Weichselberger. The ladies winning were Mrs. Gust Schranz, first, and Mrs. Walton Larson, second. In pinocle Mrs. Sangmeister and Mrs. Fred Weichselberger carried home the bacon.

Rufe's Ramblings

By Rufe Pickett

Up near the foot hills of the Blue Rides lies a territory known as White Plains. If you should ever walk through that neighborhood while the sun is baking down on the sandy soil you will readily understand why a groundhog acts the way he does on the morning of February second, and if you stand on the depot platform and look across to the north you will feel that the Windy Mountain & Eastern literally runs right to the door of the mountains. For that reason it has always been referred to as "The Beaten Path,"—not that they ever went in for manufacturing mousetraps up in the hills, but some of the citizens, and others less fortunate who have at some time "been away" for more than a year, do make something better, which proved the old adage to be true. Mountain Dew, it is generally called, although at times it has been spoken of as tanglefoot, de-rail, dynamite, moonshine, or just plain cawn. And in this regard I have a friend who has run a restaurant for over half a century. He has always kept two sugar bowls handy. If a customer comes in and talks natural he is given the one filled with granulated sugar. If he speaks in the thick tongued manner which indicates he has just enough mountain dew he "sweetens" his cup a black coffee from the other bowl. My friend has never given the wrong one yet and he's seen thousands of pounds of White Plains sand stirred in by fellows whose taste didn't detect the difference.

The National Guard

One of George Washington's most famous statements was this: "To be prepared for war is one of the most effectual ways of preserving peace."

That should be remembered in the present troubled world. And it has an especial significance now that, an aggressive effort is being made to build up the National Guard to its authorized strength of 682,000 men.

The Guard is a volunteer, civilian-soldier organization, and it has a long and distinguished record of service. It provides a priceless nucleus of trained men upon which an effective fighting force can be built in time of war. Units of the Guard were among the first to see action in the last conflict, and they fought gallant delaying actions while we worked against time to create a gigantic Army. And war is not the only emergency which the Guard is called upon to meet. In every great disaster from the San Francisco fire of 1906 to the ghastly explosion at Texas City a short time ago, the Guard has done a superb job as a protector of life and property.

To young men, the Guard offers an opportunity to learn new skills, to improve old ones, and to acquire experience in organization and leadership. Each member draws a full day's Regular Army pay for two hours of spare-time training a week, and for each 15 days of field training a year. To the community, the guard is a proud local asset. It represents public service of the highest order.

ANNUAL WILL COUNTY TEA OF HOME BUREAU IS SET

The annual county Home Bureau tea open to all Home Bureau members and guests, will be held June 20, at 1:45 in the pavilion in West park.

Mrs. Alfred Krapf, county vice chairman, will be in charge of the program. 4-H girls will appear on the program to give special music numbers and also recognition for all new Home Bureau members will be the main features of the afternoon. There will be a roll call of the units with the vicechairman of each unit reading the names of all new members in the unit beginning as of July 1, 1946.

The main feature of the program will be a talk by Mrs. Lucile Castle, Home Adviser, on her experiences with the Red Cross during World War II. In addition to telling things of interest about the people and countryside of Africa, France, Germany, Switzerland, and Austria, she will have a display of a few things that she collected. Some of the things are figurines, baskets, copperware, a painted wine bottle with a hand carved Bavarian stopper, and a few items that were made by soldiers in a craftshop which Mrs. Castle conducted.

SOURCES OF ENERGY

There has been some rather loose talk to the effect that coal may become obsolete as a source of industrial energy. Such opinions are based on the fact that other sources of heat and power have made remarkable strides in recent years, due in part, at least, to the policy of powerful mine labor unions to call strikes to enforce wage demands, thus largely destroying the price advantage of coal over competitive fuels.

However, this country has a great and growing need for all its fuels, and coal will continue to be one of the most important. A large part of the country depends on coal to manufacture electric power. Coal is a basic ingredient in the production of steel. The coal burning locomotive still hauls most of our trains, despite an increase in the number of diesels on the lines. Remarkable progress has been made in developing a coal-burner of greatly increased efficiency, economy, and cleanliness.

Of much greater importance, coal is the most abundant of our known energy resources. Our coal deposits are almost infinite in extent, and the geologists say they are sufficient to last thousands of years. Their potential importance has been enormously increased by recent discoveries of means by which gasoline may be made from coal. And experiments, whose ultimate success seems assured, are now underway to use coal in powdered form.

It is always a mistake to say that one form of energy will turn out to be more important than another. The safest assumption is that every kind of energy we possess—coal, oil, water, and ultimately, atomic power—will play vital roles in the world of tomorrow.

Glen Folkers left Wednesday, June 4, for Washington, D. C., for an indefinite stay.

Miss Charlene Folkers received her diploma at the graduation exercises at William Woods college, Fulton, Mo., where she was a student for the past several years. Her parents motored to Fulton to attend the ceremony. They were accompanied by Alan Hedges. They all returned Monday, June 2.

Miss Isabelle Harmening, teacher of school district 161, took her pupils and their mothers on a tour of Chicago. They visited the Field Museum, the aquarium, and other places of interest. Sunday, June 8, they enjoyed their annual picnic which was held at Highland Park, Joliet. A potluck dinner was served to the pupils and their families after which games were played before they went home.

The teacher and pupils of school district 153, Green Garden, closed the year's activities with a picnic in the school house because of inclement weather. Most of the pupils and their families were present. The afternoon was spent in a most enjoyable way. There were eats galore.

Miss Wilma Mark returned home from the Presbyterian hospital, Chicago, where she was a patient for a week. She is convalescing nicely.

Members of the graduating class at Bloom township high school Friday night, June 6, were Ina Ruth Schifler, Gertrude Heath, Robert Erdman, Melvin Eisenbrand, Richard Lambrecht, Carol Folkers, Albert Swatek, and Gerald McLean.

August F. Schwiesow of Monee, father of Mrs. George Waldvogel, is a patient at Hazel Crest general hospital, where he underwent surgery.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Rab are parents of a son born May 28 at Silver Cross hospital, Joliet. The Rabbs have another son, Billy.

A group of relatives and friends surprised Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Weichbrodt Sunday on their twentieth anniversary. A potluck dinner was served at noon.

The infant daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Claude Otto was baptized at the morning service in the Methodist church. The name is Martha Jane. Other children baptised were Byron Adrian Nelson, Shirley Lee, and Carolyn Nelson.

Mrs. Alfred Baumgartner of Virginia, Minn., has been visiting with friends and relatives here for several weeks.

Thursday evening, June 5, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mark entertained a group of relatives in observance of their tenth wedding anniversary. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mark, Mr. and Mrs. Jake Hostert, William and Frank Mark, the George Kratzberg family; the Arthur Mark family, Conrad Mark Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. Schinkowsky. The hosts served ice cream and cake at a late hour.

William Kampe and Miss Minnie Jordan attended the White Sox ballgame in Chicago Memorial day.

Miss Marjorie Bauch spent Thursday at home, on her day off from hospital duty.

The Jolly 9 club met at the home of Mrs. Harry Waldhauser, Thursday afternoon June 5. The afternoon was spent playing "Help Your Neighbor." Miss Esther Bettenhausen, Mrs. Lloyd Schmidt, and Mrs. Lester Barton received awards for holding high score. After the games, the hostess served a delicious two-course luncheon. The next meeting will be July 3 at Mrs. Lester Bartons.

The date for the variety supper which the Green Garden W. S. C. S. will give, is June 17. Time: 6 p. m., Place: the Methodist church parlors. The public is cordially invited.

Neil Coleman was taken to Silver Cross hospital, Joliet, Monday where he underwent surgery, returning Friday much improved.

Mrs. Katie Heisner is a surgical patient at Silver Cross hospital, where she is reported improving.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Johnson of Roseland were guests of the John Staff's last week Sunday. They were former residents of Frankfort and neighbors of Staff's.

George Andrew of Joliet, formerly of here, suffered a paralytic stroke last week. He is confined to his bed.

Monday evening, June 2, little Evelyn Diment celebrated her seventh birthday with a cake and candles and all the trimmings. Present for the occasion were her grandparents, the Henry Bettenhausens, Mr. and Mrs. Emory Bettenhausen and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Bettenhausen and Miss Esther Bettenhausen. June 4 the same group honored Mrs. Henry Bettenhausen who was observing her birthday. Mrs. Werner, the great grand mother, was also present.

A group of ladies went to Chicago Tuesday, June 3, to the breakfast club at the Merchandise Mart to hear Don McNeal and performers. Those who attended were Mesdames Elmer Dralle Harold Ullrich, Harvey Rosendahl, Alvin Wanner; Albert Steinberg; Harry Schmuhl, and Earl Bettenhausen. They also saw the "Musical Milk Wagon."

Approximately 200 guests were served at the 39th annual banquet at St. Peter's church. Father Weir of Illinois state penitentiary was the evening's speaker. Jimmy Nelson and Danny O'Day, ventriloquist, entertained; Arthur Lambrecht was toastmaster, Miss Lillian Collins of Chicago Heights accompanied the community singing. The honoree guests were the class of 1947 and Miss Lankenau. Guests of special interest were Prof. Howard A. Craig, who founded the Frankfort alumni, while he was principal here, and his son Gordon. Mr. Craig now lives in Winnetka. Gordon lives in Dalton and is connected with the Daily News. There were also two members of the class of 1907 present. Mrs. Viola Hollstein Sayers, who was intermediate teacher for quite some time, and Mrs. Hilda Lankenau Lambrecht.

The newly organized 4-H club held its first regular meeting Tuesday evening, June 3, in the home of Miss Shirley Weichbrodt. A talk on "closet clean-up" was given by Miss Weichbrodt; programs and books explaining the club work were distributed. Ina Ruth Shifler spoke on the subject

"Know Your Pattern." Demonstration and fitting the pattern by Peggy Knupp. Doris Hinspeter showed how to pin the pattern on the cloth. Peggy Knupp gave a reading on how to make a "sub-clandwich." Light refreshments were served by the hostess.

Chicago and Northern Illinois . . . Future Medical Capital of the World

Already known throughout the world for its schools of medicine, institutes of scientific research, and large, well-staffed hospitals, the Chicago and Northern Illinois area will continue to attract important men of medicine from the world over.

Today, the area is the site of four medical and three dental schools of highest standing. Practical training is carried on in the 174 hospitals, and 27 sanitariums and infirmaries containing 71,349 beds. Here, also, are the homes of a dozen national and international organizations in medicine and related fields. The territory is now the world center for medical information . . . more than forty medical and allied journals are published here.

Within the next few years, Chicago and Northern Illinois is destined to rank above all the great medical centers in history. Three tremendous expansion programs are far beyond the planning stage with most of the land for the buildings already purchased. Public and private sources have pledged additional funds for the establishment of new medical facilities, hospitals and laboratories to cover many acres of land and to cost hundreds of millions of dollars.

In the Medical Center District project, the University of Illinois and Loyola University, the State Department of Public Welfare and the Veterans' Administration will erect a community of new buildings for the study of public health, industry and aviation medicine. In another of these vast programs, Northwestern University plans ten new buildings, including an Institute for Medical Research in such fields as heart ailments, cancer and high blood pressure. Other buildings in this group will enlarge the facilities for special medical studies, hospital care and the nursing school. As part of this project the Veterans' Administration will erect a hospital, and Mercy Hospital will install a one thousand bed hospital unit and a research center.

At the University of Chicago still another of these expansion programs is under way. Four new clinic buildings and four buildings for atomic research, including the Institute of Radiobiology and Bio-physics, will be added. Extensive investigation will be conducted into the new possibilities in medicine, particularly in cancer, opened by the development of atomic research. Throughout all of Chicago and Northern Illinois many other groups have announced plans totaling more than 200 million dollars for hospital facilities.

Students and doctors seeking opportunities for research, advanced study, and actual training under foremost physicians and surgeons will turn to the many hospitals and schools here. As the land is being cleared in multi-million dollar programs, and as the finest hospital and laboratory equipment in the world pours in, future world leadership in the field of medicine is assured for Chicago and Northern Illinois.

Industries in this area have these outstanding advantages: Railroad Center of the United States • World Airport • Inland Waterways • Geographical Center of U. S. Population • Great Financial Center • The "Great Central Market" • Food Producing and Processing Center • Leader in Iron and Steel Manufacturing • Good Labor Relations Record • 2,500,000 Kilowatts of Power • Tremendous Coal Reserves • Good Government • Good Living • Good Services for Tax Dollars. Send for free booklets containing useful information on these advantages.

Thursday evening June 5th marked the close of another school year for the teachers and pupils of the Ann Rutledge school. A very interesting program was given by the pupils. A group of pupils from the first and second grades known as the "Quiz Kids" responded very quickly to the questions asked of them. Also interesting were the pupils of the fourth grade who proved quite adept in arithmetic quiz.

Next on the program was a reading entitled, "Casey at the Bat" by Ronnie Schaper and very well done.

A group from the fifth, sixth and seventh, and eighth grades gave a playlet "Vacation Fantasy" which was very well received.

After this the pupils received their merit pins and various awards, which was followed by moving pictures of the school, pupils and teachers, also Bloom township high school and Gary school, taken by Mr. and Mrs. E. Boyden of Gary, Ind. These were much enjoyed by all present. Thank you very much, Mr. and Mrs. Boyden.

The June meeting of the Marley unit of the Home Bureau was held Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Walter Haas with Mrs. Loren Sass assisting. The chairman, Mrs. Francis Nelson, called the meeting to order and presided. The lesson on "characteristics of emotional maturity" was presented by the home advisor, Mrs. Lucille Castle. Mrs. Castle also announced that the Home Bureau Spring Tea will be held in West Park, Joliet, at 2 p. m., June 20. Everyone is invited. New members will be honored at this time.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Stiversen, who arrived at their home in Monticello, last Tuesday from their honeymoon trip, were weekend guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Helmke.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Floyd and family of Pontiac were callers Sunday in the Julian Gorham and Loren Sass homes.

The Marley school picnic was held last Friday in Nowell park in Joliet. Miss Marion Benham is the teacher.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Rowley and family of Plainfield were entertained Monday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Sproat.

A.R. Kercheval is suffering from injuries received when he fell in his yard last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Sproat and Mrs. Ella Heggie attended the graduation exercises of the University of Illinois at Champaign Sunday afternoon. Miss Lois Sproat was among the graduates.

Miss Helen Rozzel of Berkeley, Calif., and Burnett Gorham of Columbia, Mo., were guests last week of Mr. and Mrs. Julian Gorham.

The Marley Missionary society will meet Wednesday June 18 in the home of Mrs. Arthur Lauffer. Mrs. James Frazer will assist. The program will begin at two o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Lauffer and family were guests Friday evening of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Helmke.

Mr. and Mrs. Julian Gorham and daughter Mary attended the silver wedding celebration of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Campbell in their home in Joliet last Saturday evening.

Sunday afternoon, Mrs. Charles Lahmann, Mrs. John Handorf, Mrs. Charles Lauffer and Mrs. Russell Lauffer attended a surprise shower in honor of Miss Dorothy Handorf. The party was held in the home of Mrs. Albert Kellem near Lemont. Miss Handorf, who is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Handorf, will become the bride of Mr. Robert Hodges, June 21 in Lemont.

Mrs. S. Belmore and grandson, Corky Dale of Wilmington, were weekend guests in the Frank Bell home.

The pupils of the Hadley school and their teacher Mrs. Charles Jensen, closed their school year with a picnic at Inwood park Saturday.

Mrs. Paul Saunders and son Keith spent Monday in Chicago.

Miss Kate Haas spent Sunday in Chicago where she visited her nephew Pat Martin who is a patient in a veteran's hospital.

Sunday guests in the home of Mrs. Minnie Blodgett were Jeanne Larson, Phyllis Bjorkman, Theresa Muhlbauer, Don Hulsing, George Abday, and Bob Radokovich, all of Lockport.

Miss Lena Miller of Chicago was a weekend guest of Miss Kate Haas.

The Rev. Paul Saunders was called to Mt. Vernon, N.Y., Saturday by the death of his father, who died Friday after a lingering illness.

B. F. Goodrich announces a big reduction in the price of the famous Silvertown tire!

Yes, you can now buy all popular sizes of the tire that outwears prewar tires at actually less than prewar prices! And despite higher manufacturing costs too. One of the things that makes possible this huge price reduction is the tremendous demand for the new Silvertown—greater than for any tire B. F. Goodrich ever produced. In fact, more miles have been driven on this new tire than any other tire introduced since the war.

FIRST IN RUBBER

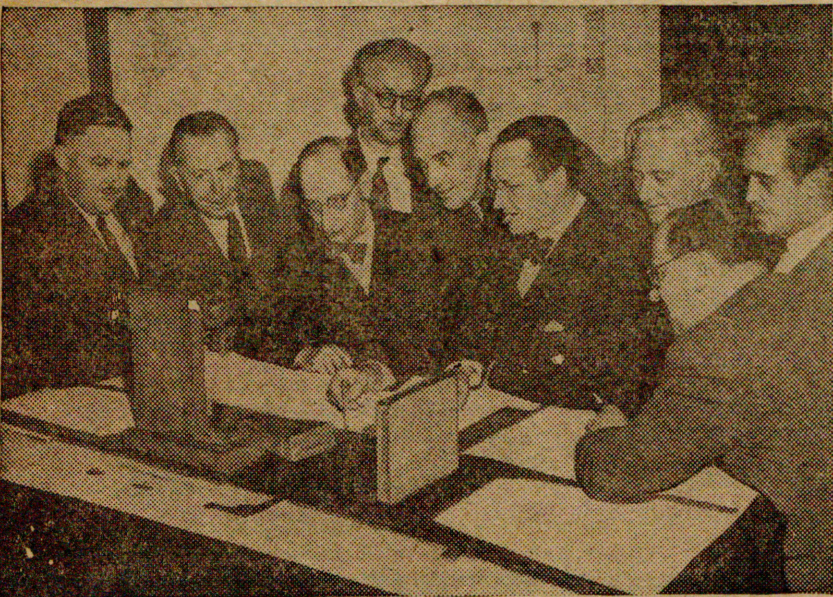

REUNITED AFTER 26 YEARS . . . James Gombarick (right) ended a 26-year search for his daughter, Mrs. Bernice Potter (left) when he greeted her in a Milwaukee railroad station and found he had a grandson, Robert. Gombarick lost track of his daughter following a divorce from his first wife in which no provision was made for custody of Bernice, then 20 months old.

SOURDOUGHS, 1947 STYLE . . . Everything is an adventure to the young in heart, so these three World War II veterans started out on the royal road to romance which they hope will lead them from Scranton, Pa., to Alaska. And, after all, they might strike gold. Making the trip in a 17-year-old panel truck are (left to right) Bill Spencer, Joseph J. O'Brien and Al Drack. Every one of them is a confirmed optimist.

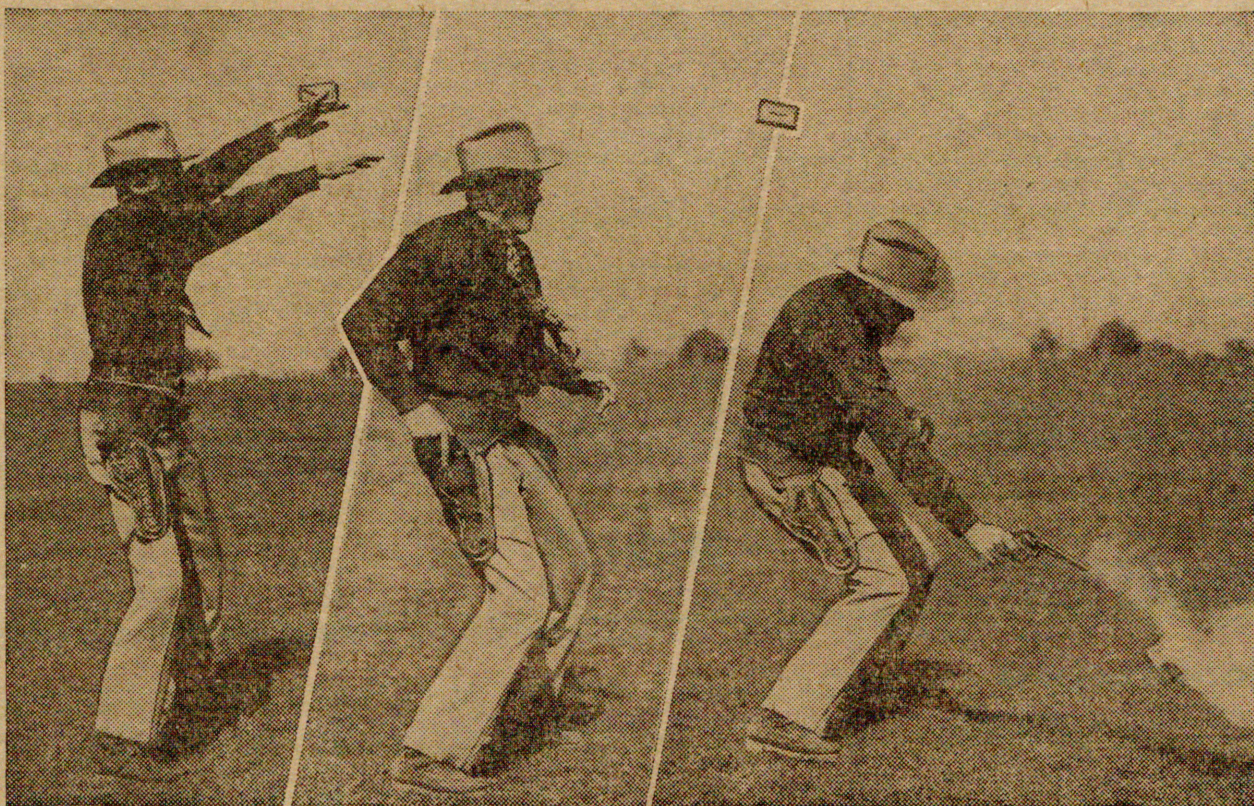

NEW DAR PRESIDENT INSTALLED . . . Mrs. Roscoe C. O'Byrne (right) of Brookville, Ind., has been elected president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution. She succeeds Mrs. J. Y. Talmadge (left) of Athens, Ga., who drapes the president general's sash about Mrs. O'Byrne's shoulders during installation ceremonies held at the 56th annual DAR convention at Constitution hall.

UNITED NATIONS' HOME TOWN . . . Architects representing nine nations gathered in Radio City, New York, to take a look at a model of the general architectural scheme for the United Nations' permanent headquarters. To be constructed on an 18-acre site along the East River in Manhattan, the project includes a 40-story skyscraper (left) to house the secretariat, and another 30-story structure for general purposes.

THEY WERE JUST TIRED OF IT ALL . . . The notorious Gallic temperament can rise to great, uninhibited heights, as this picture of shambles in a food ration office at Dijon, France, testifies. Dissatisfied with the distribution system, these seething demonstrators stormed the economic control room shouting, "Down with the red tape and economic dictatorship." Whereupon they entered the building, upset files, tossed papers out of the windows and later set fire to some of the records.

QUICK ON THE TRIGGER . . . Almost extinct since the days of Deadeye Dick, Wild Bill Hickock and Annie Oakley, the fine art of throwing a six-shooter on a swiftly moving target has been revived by Ernie Lind. Here he is shown as he holds an empty cartridge box on his hand, withdraws the hand and then proceeds to pull his gun and shoot a hole in the box before it strikes the ground. Time elapsed: One-half second. Ernie, with his wife, Dot, is on an annual nationwide exhibition tour for Western-Winchester to display his shooting prowess.

HE'D RATHER DIE HERE . . . Sure, and Patrick Flood has returned from the cold sod. The 90-year-old Irish gentleman, a resident of Albany, N. Y., for 70 years, left the United States last October to go to Ireland "to die." But this spring he came back, offering this immortal explanation of his return: "I wanted to die in the little village where I was born, but the hard winter almost killed me." He said he wanted to get away from peat fires and back to central heating.

EXPERIMENT IN TRAINING . . . Marching rigidly at attention, this squad of boyish-looking soldiers is a part of the more than 660 trainees receiving special instruction at Fort Knox, Ky., as an experimental step toward setting up a universal military training program. The group was assembled to test provisions of bills before congress calling for one year of training of all high school graduates or youths of 18. Experiment is proving a success, officials say.

YOUNGEST . . . Pierino Gamba, 9-year-old Italian prodigy, is believed to be the youngest band leader in the world to reach a point comparable with other leading orchestra leaders. His family is proud.

QUEEN MOTHER . . . Latest portrait of Her Majesty Queen Mary of England who celebrated her 80th birthday anniversary recently. She wears medallions bearing portraits of her son, King George VI, and her late husband.

Watch Your Kidneys!

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste

Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.
Symptoms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.
There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have been winning new friends for over 40 years. They have a nation-wide reputation. Are recommended by grateful people the country over. Ask your neighbor!

THE FICTION CORNER

THE HURRICANE CANDLE

By EDWIN RUTT

THE landlord was very old. He moved with slow, tentative steps as if afraid that his legs might buckle and collapse under the weight of his great, shrunken body. His hair was the color of bleached silver; the backs of his hands were mottled and the veins stood out, starkly blue. But his face had the somber dignity that the sea stamps upon those who follow her. You couldn't discount this man because he was old. He had presence.

Hurlow and I were on our way to Narsett Banks for some fishing and the old inn had appealed to me.

We had a creditable dinner, cooked and served by a Portuguese woman.

"She's a white Portygee," Mr. Hendrickson, the landlord, explained. "Couldn't get along without her. She comes early and goes late."

We were the only guests. Indeed, I gathered that people staying the night there were few and far between. After dinner we sat in a low, beamed-ceilinged room that overlooked the sea. Far below we could hear the Atlantic snarling and raving at the foot of the bluff.

Presently the old man got up and went out. He returned shortly carrying a lighted candle. I'd never seen an arrangement just like it before. The candle was set in a candlestick, but the flame itself was protected by a high chimney blown in the shape of a gigantic drinking glass. The purpose of this was obvious. The large chimney would protect the flame against being snuffed out by wind.

HURLOW was interested. "What's that?" he asked. You had to raise your voice when you spoke to Mr. Hendrickson.

The old man set the candle in the window. It cast a dull, livid light.

"That's a hurricane candle," he explained. "They use 'em in the tropics. My grandfather brought this one from the West Indies. That was a long time ago now."

"But why put it in the window?" Hurlow pursued.

For a moment the old man looked at him blankly.

"Why?" he said at last. "Um. I don't know as I rightly know why. Because it always has stood in that window at night, I expect. For four generations. As long as we've owned this inn. As long as there's been Hendricksons at sea."

"And are there Hendricksons at sea now?" I ventured.

The old man's eyes lighted. "There's one. My son, Tom. Been on boats since he was eighteen. Same as me. Same as my father and grandfather before me."

I didn't like to pry into his business. But I was curious about this queer custom of burning the candle.

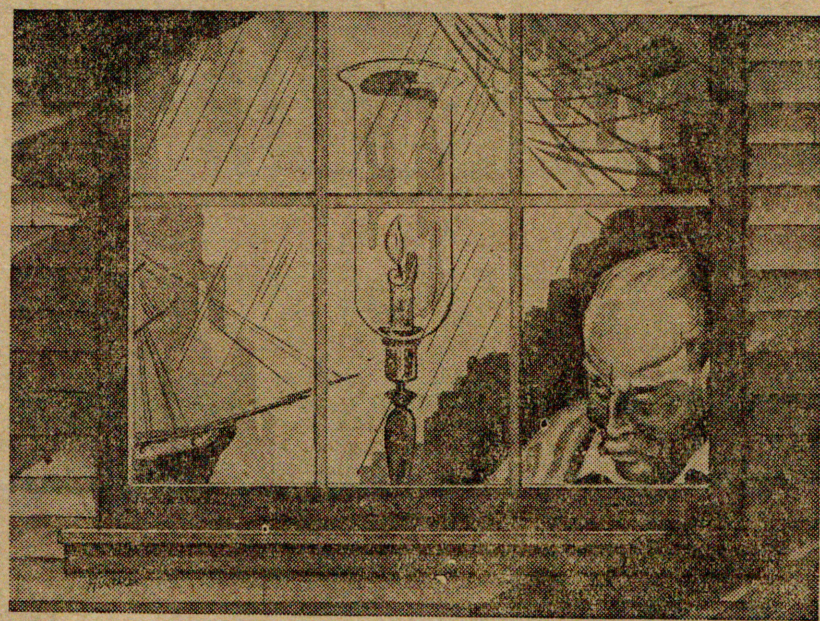

"How old would your son be now, Mr. Hendrickson?" I asked.

He reckoned on his fingers. "Let's see! I was forty-eight when Tom was born. That would make him—ten, twenty—Tom's thirty-five now if he's a day. He ain't been home for seven years." Something like a sigh sounded. "But he'll come. The Hendricksons always come back. He'll take the inn here when I'm gone. He'll marry and have sons. And like as not he'll burn the candle for 'em when they grow up and go away to sea."

"It's a nice custom," I said inadequately.

"Custom?" said the old man. "Yes, that's what it is. A custom. Always done it. And I expect we'll go on doing it. Until we don't own this old inn any more or, maybe, until all the Hendricksons are gone. I don't know." His voice trailed. "I don't know."

The old man was still in his chair—but his head seemed to have dropped further on one side.

"Have you any other sons?" inquired Hurlow.

"No. No more sons and no daughters at all. Just the one. Just Tom."

Outside the sea was banging the cliff with more force. Ponderous, smacking blows. There was a whine in the wind.

"It's getting rough out there," Hurlow said.

I looked at the old man. He had fallen asleep in his chair.

"He's pretty ancient," I said.

Hurlow was walking around.

"This is an eerie place," he said. All at once the candle flickered.

"That candle's getting low," I remarked. "Think we ought to wake him?"

"Why?"

"I don't know. But he mightn't want it to go out."

Hurlow began exploring in a corner.

"Hello," he said presently. "A radio."

"Turn it on and you will wake him," I said.

"I doubt it," Hurlow spun the dials. Low silky music stole into the room. The old man never stirred.

The candle flame wavered again. "Let's take that candle away from the window," I said. "The wind must be getting at it through the chinks."

"How can it with that glass dingus?" said Hurlow. "Ah ha, here's a news commentator."

The news commentator came on crisply. A strike in Minneapolis. I listened without much interest. Suddenly, unexpectedly, the news commentator's voice rose higher.

"Port of Spain, Trinidad. A violent hurricane struck Trinidad this afternoon, destroying property valued at half a million dollars. But so far as can be learned only one life was lost and the man, unfortunately, was an American. Able Bodied Seaman Thomas Hendrickson was swept to his death from the tanker Pocohontas when the gale struck Port of Spain harbor. . . ."

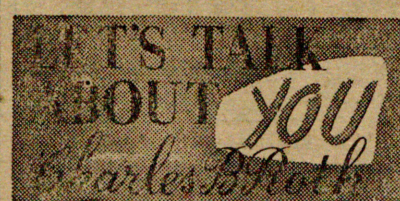

THE words seemed to crash like strayed lightning into the room. For a second we stared at one another in stunned silence. Then Hurlow gasped, "Hendrickson" and snapped off the radio.

I wheeled around then. The old man was still in his chair. But his head seemed to have dropped further on one side and he had slumped down.

Suddenly Hurlow darted across the room and took hold of his wrist. But he straightened up presently and turned to me, a puzzled, half-frightened expression on his face.

"Something's wrong, Jimmy," he said. "I—I can't find his pulse. And he—he isn't breathing."

I leaped to my feet, but stopped before I could take a stride. A queer, gray shadow seemed to steal across the room. There was a faint flicker of light, a faint hiss. The hurricane candle guttered and went out.

KEEP A GOAL IN SIGHT

In one of the largest cities in the United States there is a doctor who has had considerable success in putting distraught and unhappy people back on the right track to happiness and success. His method is beautifully simple.

Whenever a person, feeling he needs a doctor's advice, comes to this doctor, the doctor puts pieces of plain white paper and a sharpened pencil in front of the patient.

"Before we start with your case," he suggests, "I want you to write down on that paper your goal in life. When we get it down in black and white I believe we can really go somewhere."

Nine persons out of ten cannot define their goal at all, much less write it. In other words, nine out of ten men and women lead purposeless, goalless lives. The doctor believes they can't find happiness until their goal is clear and in full view.

"If your goal in life is clear, you will adjust yourself to the goal, but if your goal isn't clear or if it's an unworthy goal, how can you expect to be very effective or attractive to others?" he asks.

I realize that what I have said here might sound a little bit theoretical and academic to you. I assure you, however, that it is neither. Setting the goal and keeping it in sight is one of the big secrets of attaining the kind of personality and winning the kind of success and happiness that you most want.

Suppose your goal is the general goal of a business and social success. That's a very common goal. All right. It's worthy. Write down exactly what you want to get out of life—write down your goal boldly.

To attain that goal you've just written down, you know that you have to make yourself acceptable to certain persons—perhaps to customers in your business or to the kind of men and women you want to associate with in society.

To be acceptable to them your personality must be the kind which they will approve. It must include certain traits—generosity, charm, graciousness, magnetism, other positive qualities.

The next thing you have to do is spend an honest half hour in self-inventory, trying to decide what, in the final analysis, you have to do to attain the goal which you set for yourself.

Save Cleaning Time

By using both hands as a team in performing many household tasks such as washing woodwork, dusting, setting the table and putting away dishes, homemakers can save much time and energy.

Feed Sack Handicraft

Hairpin lace can be made from thread unraveled from feed sacks and used in the ornamenting of handicraft articles which are made from feed sacks, according to home industries specialists.

Heating Coils

When food is spilled on the heating unit of an electric stove it should be allowed to char and then brushed off. Washing the coils may cause a short circuit.

Saving Flower Seeds

If you are saving flower seeds from one season to the next—dry them thoroughly and place in pockets in the attic.

Hand Lettered

Letters in the first books printed from movable metal types by Johann Gutenberg of Mainz, Germany, in the middle 15th century were modeled after the hand letters of medieval scribes.

Davy Jones

The name of Davy Jones, the sailor's mythical ruler of the sea bottom, is supposed to have come from duppy—West Indian for ghost—and Jonah, a name that turns up often in sea legend.

Pressure Saucepans

Pressure saucepans cook foods in a very short time. Vegetables can be cooked in one to five minutes. Meats can be cooked to tenderness in 35 minutes.

Liked Balts

Buffalo Bill thought so highly of the Balts that he once tried to get a colony of Lithuanians to settle on land he owned out west.

City Blacked Out by Moths

An accumulation of white moth millers on the lining of a dynamo's driving belt actually blacked out Pendleton, Oregon for two hours one night in 1896. As the moths flew in an open window, they were sucked into the rotating belt, which was dislodged by the resultant moth paste.

Eikedahl Recital Greeted by Many

Piano students of Hazel Gibson Eikedahl gave their annual recital to a packed house Sunday May 25 at the New Lenox Methodist church. A variety of interesting numbers were presented, including solos and duets. In addition to the regular class, two young Chicago pianists, Gerald Wierler, 15, gave an interesting and well interpreted rendition of the Beethoven Sonata on 79 and Alexander Rago, 13, exhibited ability in his fine interpretation of La Zingana by Bohm and Poeme by Fibich. The youngest student on the program was little John Perru Boynton, now five, who gave his third annual performance.

Those appearing in recital the first time were Edward Donaldson, Barbara Hauck, Paul and John Huttenhoff, Stanley Bruns, and Robert Johnson of Tinley Park.

Other performers were Diane and Mark Batson, Barbara and Patricia Boynton, Cary Edna Robinson, Jean Hohenstein, Bernice Heisner, Joyce Frick, Sheldon Hauck, Karen Brockman, and Virginia Donaldson.

In conclusion an impressive honor procession brought forward those receiving awards for their work. Advancing simultaneously down two aisles, the group was led by Leslie Eikedahl and David Donaldson, both of whom bore the prizes.

A preschool pin was awarded to John Perry Boynton. Achievement pins were received by Diane Batson, Barbara Boynton, Stanley Bruns, Sheldon Hauck, Bernice Heisner, Vivian Osmus, Priscilla Senning, and Joanne Frick. Achievement pendants were earned by Mark Batson, Karen Brockman, and Jean Hohenstein. Patricia Boynton received a bronze bust of Beethoven. Virginia Donaldson a bust of Mozart and Cary Edna Robinson one of Mendelssohn. The annual progress pin was won by Virginia Donaldson, while honorable mention was given to both Cary Edna Robinson and Patricia Boynton.

Dr. Enoch Shows Improvement; In Bed

Dr. C.S. Enoch of Tinley Park, who was stricken with a heart attack a week ago last Saturday, has shown considerable improvement. He will, however, be confined to his bed for a few weeks, and away from his dental office.

Arrangements have been made for Dr. A.R. Bovic to take care of Dr. Enoch's office, during the latter's illness.

Return From Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mason of Midlothian, Conrad Bormet of Tinley Park, and Mrs. John G. Bettenhausen and daughter Jean Audrey of Mokena returned home Tuesday from Okabena, Minn., where they attended the wedding June 8 of Miss Emilia Seydel to Wilbert Grages in St. John's Lutheran church in Okabena.

The bride is a cousin of Mrs. Bettenhausen.

Assailant of Girl
To Remain in Prison

James F. Lincoln, Jr., serving a term in Statesville prison for attacking a little girl, Carol Williams, on Maple road farm near Joliet, earlier last year, will stay in prison for a while yet, at least until next November.

Lincoln's case came automatically before the division of correction last month because he had served the minimum of his sentence of one to 14 years. He was represented by the Chicago attorney who represented the convicted man at the time of the trial.

The case was continued for six months by the division of correction.

New Lenox Girl
Heads 4-H Group

At a meeting of the Will county 4-H club federation held in the home of Elvis Gast, Peotone May 27, a New Lenox girl and a Mokena boy were named president and treasurer respectively.

Officers elected were Alice Smith, New Lenox, president; Ronald Hack, Peotone, vice-president; Helen Reddy, Wesley, secretary; Jack Chestnut, Mokena, treasurer; Kenneth Heisner, Peotone, recreation chairman; Jeanne Murphy, Elwood, girls' corresponding secretary; Don Benbrooks, Custer Park, boys' corresponding secretary, and Rosemary Archibald, New Lenox, press reporter.

Plans were discussed for the picnic to be held at Gerdes Woods near Wilton Center July 20. Jack Chestnut and Kenneth Heisner were appointed co-chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements. The other members of the committee are Ruth Hamilton, Helen Reddy, Alice Smith, and Erwin Goodwin.

The next meeting will be held in the home of Helen Reddy July 15. The business meeting will be followed by a hayrack ride.

ANNUAL WILL COUNTY TEA OF HOME BUREAU IS SET

The annual county Home Bureau tea, opened to all Home Bureau members and guests, will be held June 20, at 1:45 in the pavilion in West park.

Mrs. Alfred Krapf, county vice chairman, will be in charge of the program. 4-H girls will appear on the program to give special music numbers and also recognition for all new Home Bureau members will be the main features of the afternoon. There will be a roll call of the units with the vice-chairman of each unit reading the names of all new members in the unit beginning as of July 1, 1946.

The main feature of the program will be a talk by Mrs. Lucile Castle, Home Adviser, on her experiences with the Red Cross during World War II. In addition to telling things of interest about the people and countryside of Africa, France, Germany, Switzerland, and Austria, she will have a display of a few things that she collected. Some of the things are figurines, baskets, copperware, a painted wine bottle with a hand carved Bavarian stopper, and a few items that were made by soldiers in a craftshop which Mrs. Castle conducted.

'Acid' Electron Tube Test

Electron tubes are subjected to grueling vibration tests before they are released for service. At one electrical manufacturing plant a special machine yanks the tubes back and forth 25 times a second for 100 hours.

Delicate Measuring Device

One of science's most trusted aids in precision is an electrical measuring instrument that magnifies a surface by as much as 20,000 times and can detect an imperfection of only five-millionths of an inch.

CLIFFORD RASCHKE FIND CROPS BOOMING IN SOUTH

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Raschke returned last week from a visit to Mrs. Raschke's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Lovett, Paris, Tenn. Mrs. Lovett has been ill, but now is better, the visitors report.

Crops are in advanced stages, Mr. Raschke told us, with corn knee-high, weather hot. Cotton is in excellent condition, he said, and farmers there are not having the trouble we have here with surplus rains, although showers have been frequent enough to be just right.

POLICE WHISTLE ON FARM

The Lester Schroeders, who live near Peotone in Will county, are featured in an article in the June issue of Capper's Farmer entitled "Come Hither Whistle".

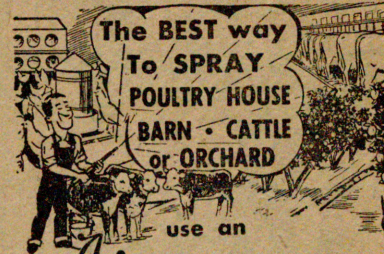

"Somebody knocked. The door was opened," the story in the farm magazine points out,—by Mrs. Lester Schroeder. She said her husband had gone to town, but the hired man was somewhere around the buildings.

"What would be the most likely place to look for him?"

"Mrs. Schroeder glanced at the kitchen clock. At this time—probably at the barn. But she'd make certain. Then there was a trilling blast from a police whistle. Presently Elden Teske stepped thru the stable door and glanced inquiringly toward the back porch.

Mrs. Schroeder explained that for finding menfolks around the farmstead, the whistle was easier and quicker than yelling or hunting."

Airosprayer

Meets Every Spraying Need—Easy to Use—Light Weight—Powerful—Simple Construction—Non-Clogging.

The Airesprayer has no tank. Just place the hose in the spray solution, operate the hand-squeeze and you develop over 100 pounds pressure. Non-clogging nozzle has five different settings, one of which will throw the spray 35 feet. Weighted suction end containing screen keeps hose submerged and agitates solution. Easily cleaned. Can also be used for whitewashing, creosoting, spraying gardens, shrubs, trees, lawns and fighting small fires. EVERY FARM, TRY RAISER AND FARMER SHOULD HAVE ONE.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Here's to the Women-Folk!

There's a line at the heading of the Woman's Column in my paper that reads:

"Women through the years have stood Keepers of the flame ..."

Pretty easy to see what it means; whether it's the flame on the hearth, or the candle in the window, or the feeling of warmth that surrounds a home.

It's the women who are guardians of the things we cherish about homelife—who are tolerant of ashes on the rug; the rings a glass of beer can leave on tables; or the comfortable but too-worn chair that we can't bear to throw away.

From where I sit, those little satisfactions become more and more important in this world of strife and change. Smoke rings curling from a mellow pipe; a glass of beer; a comfortable chair before the fire. And I'd like to salute the housewives — "keepers of the flame" — whose tolerance and understanding helps preserve them!

MAKE THOSE FARM IMPROVEMENTS

...this Fast, Easy
Low-Cost Way!

With one of these handy, low-cost John Deere-Killefer Farm Scrapers, you can make those needed improvements around the farm yourself—fill gullies, repair roads, level land, dig trench silos, build dams and stock ponds, maintain terraces, and many others.

Whatever the earth-moving job, you'll do it easier, faster, better, when you own a John Deere-Killefer. Tractor control enables you to cut and spread thick or thin, dump forward or backward, or "cut and skip" as desired—all from the tractor seat. For extra long life, wearing parts are reinforced and protected. There are two sizes from which to choose—3-1/2- and 5-foot (with 10-1/2- and 15-cubic foot capacity, respectively)—to match your tractor power. See us for complete information.
